Customer Reviews

I recommend this for the following reasons:1) It's 8 1/2" by 11" (most other paper is larger), which means you can photocopy it.2) Space between staves is generous. (On other paper I often have either to skip staves or cram.)3) It's of good quality.4) Space between lines on the staff is not Mickey-Mouse enlarged. (In other words, this is designed for serious musicians, not school-children.)

This is a good manuscript paper. It is a normal, printer sheet size so easy to copy. If I had a wish, I'd want the distance between lines in the staffs to be just a bit wider. These might be a little small for reading in some conditions. But it should be okay.

I recently observed that loose leaf manuscript paper seems to be hard to come by. I searched and searched and found relatively few results. When I found this I ordered about 15 packs and when they arrived I loved them. They are hole punched to fit in a 3-ring binder and are of great quality. They are printed on the front and back. I am not at all a fan of the more popular spiral bound pad's of manuscript paper. I find it easier to use loose sheets so I can sketch and develop compositions on the paper at the keyboard and then later if I desire enter them into the notation program. In my opinion this paper is way easier than printing your own and that it is also a good value. I only wished that the sold it in larger boxes with more in it instead of thin plastic packs.

This product is very convenient for storing in a binder. You are given plenty of paper and the format is very simple.

Beautiful 10-stave paper! and it's double sided! definitely worth the money
